He and his family were clients of Lowe and Company in 1994 when we helped them immigrate to Canada from Egypt in 1994, and after working in the Counseling and Care field for several years, he joined the team at Lowe and Company in 2000 to help new immigrants come to Canada.

After coming to Canada, he furthered his studies in Psychology, Management, and Immigration courses, and in 2002, Nader obtained an Immigration Practitioner Diploma from the Certification Program for Immigration Practitioners, a program organized by the University of British Columbia and Seneca College of Ontario.

Nader has a passion to help new immigrants who are unfamiliar with the society and culture in Canada. He has been a volunteer with the Immigration Services Society in Vancouver, B.C., helping them to recruit Canadians to host and welcome new immigrants. He has advised new immigrants about Canadian schools, the medical system, job opportunities, translations, and other resources.

Nader has helped Independent Skilled Workers, Business immigrants, and sponsored Family members immigrate to Canada from 14 countries, including Egypt, the USA, the United Kingdom, France, the Emirates, Kuwait, Lebanon, and other countries, and he has traveled to Africa and the Middle East to advise clients in those regions.

More recently, Nader represented Lowe and Company at the 2005 American Immigration Lawyers Association Conference in Salt Lake City, where he advised American immigration attorneys on Canadian immigration options for their clients. AILA has over 8,000 member attorneys and law professors across the USA, and is one of the most respected organizations in the Immigration field.
